Void management policy

Date Approved by Board: October 2020
Latest review date: October 2023

1. Introduction

- 1.1 Turnover of housing stock is an integral part of social housing provision which inevitably results in periods where properties are void. The Co-operative recognise that it is important to have an efficient management system to deal with void properties to reduce void rental loss, provide a quality service, meet housing need and achieve good estate management.
- 1.2 The management of void properties not only requires close liaison between the various parties involved within the Co-operative, but also with external bodies such as contractors, utility companies, nominating organisations, care agencies etc. It is therefore extremely important that good communications are established to ensure an efficient process in receiving, repairing and letting void properties. In recognition of this the Co-operative is committed to ensuring that all vacant properties are let as quickly as possible in accordance with this policy.

2. Definitions

- 2.1 It is important at the outset of this policy to define a number of terms for clarity, as these are used throughout the policy. The main terms are as follows and have been taken from the Scottish Housing Regulators, Social Housing Charter Guidance.
- Voids - A void is a property owned by a landlord that has no tenant at a point in time.
  - Long term voids - These are properties that are likely to be void longer than normally would be expected these properties are low demand properties, this may be due to their location, size, form, standard etc.
  - Void period - The void period is the time, measured in calendar days, between the date of termination of a previous tenancy or the date the property was repossessed to the start date of a new tenancy. Mutual exchanges, successions and other transfers are not to be reported as void properties.

3. Aims & objectives

3.1 The overall aim of the Co-operative is to achieve efficient communication and liaison between all parties involved in the management of void properties to deliver the following objectives:

- Minimise void rental loss, void periods and void repair costs.
- Ensure effective, efficient and accountable management of void properties.
- Enable effective monitoring of void management and service delivery.
- Ensure that tenants are aware of their end of tenancy obligations, such as the need to give 28 days written notice of their intention to leave the property.
- Reduce the impact of void properties on the overall environment of the Co-operative and on neighbouring residents.
- Prevent end of tenancy generated arrears (such as rechargeable repairs) wherever possible.
- Comply with legal duties, regulatory requirements and good practice standards.

4. Legislative framework

4.1 The Co-operative must comply with a number of different legislative requirements when dealing with void properties, including:

- The Housing (Scotland) Act 2001
- Management of Health & Safety at Work Regulations 1999
- Gas Safety (Installation and Use) Regulations 1998
- The Electricity at Work Regulations 1989
- The Institution of Engineering and Technology (IET) Wiring Regulations 18th Edition, BS 7671
- The Consumer Protection Act 1987
- Construction, Design and Management (CDM) Regulations 2015
- Building Regulations and Building Standard (Scotland) Regulations
- The Control of Asbestos Regulations 2012
- Control of Substances Hazardous to Health Regulations 2002
- Health and Safety at Work etc. Act 1974
- General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) 2016
- Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002

5. Forms of void termination

5.1 Properties become void through the following ways and the treatment of the void property is affected by the form of termination:

- Formal Termination - Where the tenant gives 28 days written notice of their intention to leave the property.
- Death of Tenant - Where the Co-operative is notified of the death of a tenant and there is no successor to the tenancy.
- Abandonment - Where the Co-operative issues a legal notice to a tenant who has abandoned the property without notice.
- Eviction - Where the Co-operative completed court action to recover a property from the tenant.
- Internal Transfers - Where the tenant is re-housed in another of the Co-operatives properties.
- Development Voids - Where a new property is handed over to the RSL as complete but is not let to the tenant on the handover date.

5.2 While these different types of termination may involve slightly different processes of void management, most of the elements and stages will be similar. The following section details these.

6. Void stages

6.1 In the process of passing a property from one tenant to another there are several stages that need to be accomplished.

- Tenancy Termination Notice
- Pre-termination visit & property inspection
- Tenant required works & repairs
- Termination inspection & vacation of property
- Co-operative required repairs and terminating tenant rechargeable repairs
- Accompanied Viewings
- Allocation & Occupancy

6.2 Tenancy Termination - This is most usually the result of notice being given by the tenant, but can also be the result of death, abandonment or eviction.

In the case of notice being provided, this time will be used to:

- Inspect the property due to be vacant.
- Advise the outgoing tenant of procedures at tenancy end (rent payments, services, keys etc).
- Encourage (and for certain items, require) the outgoing tenant to leave the property in a reasonable condition (removing their possessions, cleaning up, decoration).
- Obtain feedback from the outgoing tenant about reasons for leaving through the end of tenancy form.
- Start the process of finding a new tenant.

6.3 Tenancy Termination Notice - Tenants are required to give the Co-operative 28 days notice of terminating their tenancy. The Co-operative requires this notice in writing, signed by the tenant (and the joint tenant where there is one). As soon as the tenant advises the Co-operative of their wish to terminate their tenancy an end of tenancy form will be issued to the tenant(s). If the tenant phones to advise the Co-operative their intention to terminate their tenancy, staff will complete the termination form(s) and issue to the tenant(s) for signing.

Upon receipt of the notice of tenancy termination, the tenant will be advised of a pre-termination visit & property inspection. The date and time of the intended visit should be confirmed to the tenant in writing advising that the whole house should be available for inspection.

For the most effective use of this pre-termination time staff should use the notice period to:

- Assess the property condition at pre-termination inspection.
- Agree with the tenant work to be done and repairs to be made to end the tenancy satisfactorily, allowing the tenant the opportunity to have the work completed to a professional standard before the end of tenancy.
- Informing the outgoing tenant of their end of tenancy responsibilities.
- Interview new applicants or arrange a transfer of tenancy.
- Attempt to arrange with the outgoing tenant viewing arrangements for possible incoming tenant (s).
- Advise housing benefit of expected termination date if applicable.

6.4 Selection of New Tenant - Upon notice to terminate being received, action shall progress to identify a new tenant, in accordance with the Co-operatives allocation policy.

6.5 Pre-termination visit & property inspection - The purpose of the pre-termination inspection is to ascertain the general condition of the property, advise the tenant what is required to end the tenancy satisfactorily and remind them of their rights and responsibilities at the end of tenancy. This should be carried out within 10 working days of the notice of termination to allow adequate time for the process outlined below to take place.

It can also allow the Co-operative to check whether the tenant is willing to allow prospective tenants to view the property prior to their departure and enable arrangements to be made which can considerably reduce the void period.

At the pre-termination inspection the staff member should complete an end of tenancy inspection using the inspection form and checklist

This visit should advise the outgoing tenant (s) of procedures at tenancy end, including:

- Advise tenant(s) of rent and rechargeable payments due to be made.
- Request that the tenant provides details of their current utility companies.
- Remind the tenant of the need to advise external agencies of their tenancy termination, e.g. utility companies, council tax, DWP etc.
- Remind the tenant of their responsibility to leave the property in a reasonable condition (removing their possessions, cleaning up and decoration), specifically highlight that the tenant may be recharged if any clearance or cleaning work is required to ensure the property can be let.
- Advise the tenant that if the Co-operative is required to carry out reinstating or repair work, they may be recharged for the cost of work. If the tenant feels unable to do such reinstatement work, an agreement may be made for the Co-operative to make the property good and recharge the tenant with payment due in advance of termination date. Where there is credit on the rent account, this should be returned to the outgoing tenant following the void inspection, to take account of any rechargeable repairs that may be due.
- Discuss arrangements for access to carry out repair work, prior to termination, if possible.
- Establish if accompanied viewings can be progressed with perspective tenants in the pre-termination period.
- Confirm any rights to compensation for improvements that have been carried out (The Secure Tenants (Compensation for Improvements) Regulations 2002 and the Housing Scotland Act 2001).
- Obtain feedback, including reasons for leaving.

6.6 Tenant required works & repairs - The tenants will be advised at the pre-termination inspection of repairs that they are required to carry out before they leave, with details confirmed in writing.

If the tenant is unable to carry out the required work themselves, they can request that the Co-operative undertakes the work as a rechargeable repair.

- 6.7 Viewings & provisional allocation - After termination details have been confirmed with the outgoing tenant a provisional offer of rehousing should be made to the appropriate applicant in accordance with the allocations policy.

If the existing tenant has agreed, and the staff member deem it appropriate, an accompanied viewing should be carried out during the 28 day notice period, whilst the existing tenant is still resident.

- 6.8 Pre-organised standard re-let repair work - Following the pre- termination inspection and confirmation of the termination date, the standard re-let repair work can be pre-organised for the afternoon of the day that the keys are to be returned to the Co-operative (or the following working day if this is not possible). Such works includes:

- Lock change
- Asbestos survey, where required
- Door and window ironmongery - safety catch check
- Gas safety check
- Electrical safety check
- Energy performance certificate (EPC)

- 6.9 Re-let repairs - Repairs required to achieve the lettable standard can be progressed in a number of ways, including:

- Undertaking some repair works prior to void stage.
- Non-essential repairs completed after the new tenant moves in.
- Providing redecoration allowances – in accordance with the Repairs and maintenance policy – helping to reduce void period.

All essential repairs as detailed at section 6.8 must be carried out after the property becomes void.

A detailed list of the Co-operatives void repair standard is contained at appendix A.

- 6.10 Post tenancy end viewings - Where viewings could not be arranged, prior to the end of the previous tenancy, these should be organised as soon as possible, with consideration to health & safety and the condition of the property. All viewings should be accompanied.

6.11 Allocation & occupancy - After a new tenant has accepted the offer of a property, keys should only be provided upon completion of the tenancy agreement and all appropriate paperwork. The new tenant will also be provided with:

- Copy of gas safety certificate
- Copy of current electrical installation condition report
- Copy of energy performance certificate
- Operating instructions for heating system, together with other appliances, as appropriate

7. Termination without notice

7.1 Termination without notice may arise in the following circumstances:

- Keys returned without 4 weeks' notice
- Death of the tenant;
- Termination due to repossession action

7.2 Keys returned anonymously without 4 weeks' notice - Where the keys of a property are handed in without any prior notice, this property should be treated as abandoned, in accordance with the Abandoned tenancy policy.

7.3 Keys returned without 4 weeks' notice - In this situation the provision of keys will initiate the notice period and the tenant will remain responsible for the rent over this period. In these circumstances, where possible, agreement should be sought to access the property to carry out pre-void repairs in anticipation of the property becoming void.

7.4 Death of a tenant - Where a tenant dies leaving no successors, the Co-operative needs to consider a number of sensitive issues, such as how long to allow relatives to clear the property and whether to charge to recover void losses for any of the period following the tenants' death.

- Tenancy end date - When we receive notification of the death of a tenant, where no person qualifies to succeed the tenancy, a period of up to two weeks (without charge) should be allowed for the house to be cleared. If there is no qualifying person, the tenancy will officially end upon the death of the tenant. The Technical Manager has the discretion to extend the period allowed to clear the house by a maximum of two further weeks, to take account of individual circumstances. Any period beyond this this will only be granted where the previous tenant's estate confirms in writing that they will cover the rent for this period.

- Succession of tenancy – where a qualified person exists, succession of tenancy will be progressed in accordance with the Co-operative's Allocation policy.

7.5 Death of a tenant with no next of kin – Where there is no next of kin the estate legally becomes ownership of the Government.

In cases of suspicious death or where no next of kin or relatives are involved, the Police will probably be dealing with this situation, if however, they are not, they must be contacted immediately.

The Police thereafter will be responsible for contacting one or both agencies responsible for funeral arrangements and executing the estate. The agencies referred to are the Local Authority (Glasgow City Councils) Environmental Health Department and the National Ultimus Haeres Unit (NUHU) within the Queen's and Lord's Treasurer's and Remembrancer' (QLTR).

Glasgow City Councils Environmental Health Department will generally be responsible for dealing with such situations. If a tenant who has no next of kin dies while they are in hospital, the Hospital Administrator will be responsible for contacting the Housing Provider, along with finalising any other details.

If no next of kin has been established, the Police will contact the Local Procurator Fiscal and pass all details to them. The Local Fiscal office will investigate and liaise with the NUHU of the QLTR who in turn will liaise with and the Local Authority.

Once the Local Fiscal has concluded their investigation, we will be contacted by QLTR with their findings. If a next of kin has been established, they should be encouraged to clear the property. If no next of kin has been established the QLTR will advise what should happen to the furniture and personal effects that have been left in the property.

Where this arises a full inventory of furniture and personal effects should be compiled and photographic evidence taken. No possessions should be disposed of until authorised by the QLTR.

7.6 Termination due to re-possession action – Where this takes place the date for repossession, as determined by the court/ abandonment procedure.

7.7 Abandonment - Where a tenancy is abandoned the abandoned house procedure should be followed, including arrangements for access, provision of inventory, storage of belongings and recharges as appropriate.

7.8 Framework for processing void properties - As stated previously, the key activities in managing voids are:

- Tenancy termination notice
- Pre-termination visit and property inspection
- Identification and completion of any work to the property
- Identification of a new tenant
- Letting & occupation

To minimise void timescales and reduce rent loss these activities should be progressed in tandem, where possible, with a particular focus on pre-termination activities.

8. External influences

8.1 There are a number of external factors that may have an effect on the length of time a property lies void. Difficulties that can arise in relation to voids are:

- High Turnover
- Difficult to let areas
- Difficult to let properties
- Staff absence

These problems may result from:

- lack of demand/need (for an area, property type, property size, property condition)
- lengthy repair periods (where major repairs are being carried out or if contractors require to order goods)
- Vandalism or anti-social behaviour

8.2 Where external factors impact upon performance, joined up approaches will be required to consider and develop effective strategies.

9. Security and safety

9.1 Security measures - In some areas and properties it is important to recognise the need to secure the property to prevent vandalism, theft, squatting or other problems. The need for security for a property can vary enormously between property types and location. The need to secure the property has to be weighed against the perception that this can create for existing and potential tenants.

Void management policy

As such, the type and level of security should be determined on a case by case basis.

- 9.2 Winter voids - It is important to ensure that winter voids are properly managed in order to prevent frost and/or flood damage, which could considerably add to the repair cost and the void period.

The need to take action to protect void properties in the winter varies enormously between property types, ages and different locations. At the void inspection the decision should be made whether to:

- Employ specific frost precaution measures
- Monitor the weather over the winter/void period and review the required action as a result
- Decide that the property will not require frost precautions to be taken due to its location, type or likely length of void period

Frost and flood precautions include:

- Conducting regular inspections
- Draining down of any water supply pipes and water heating systems
- Keeping on timed low level heating a couple of times a day, or on permanently during cold spells.
- Putting anti-freeze in the WC pan to prevent cracking to the toilet base.

10. Utilities

- 10.1 Effectively managing utilities during the void process is essential to ensure that:

- Void works can be progressed quickly
- Accounts are managed and billed correctly
- New tenants are provided with appropriate guidance and support to access competitive tariffs and alternative energy suppliers

- 10.2 To achieve this, we will work with third sector organisations who specialise in this area, facilitating meter services and providing independent advice to tenants.

11. Performance monitoring & service improvement

- 11.1 The policy will be monitored on a continual basis to ensure that the service continues to meet the changing needs of our tenants and provides excellent value for money. This is achieved by:

- Obtaining customer feedback when new tenants move in
- Scheduled customer surveys
- Tenants panel meetings and consultation events
- Assessing and learning from complaints
- Scrutinising invoices and comparing performance of contractors
- Comparing performance against the Scottish Social Housing Charter
- Benchmarking our performance against other Scottish Registered Social Landlords
- Internal audit arrangements
- Examining and sharing best practice through peer groups and forums, including Quality and Efficiency Forum, West of Scotland Housing Forum and Scottish Federation of Housing Associations

11.2 Key areas of performance will be reported to the Management Board monthly and communicated to tenants through our website, newsletters, the Annual Report to Tenants and other appropriate methods.

12. Record keeping and reporting

12.1 Comprehensive records will be retained within the Co-operative's housing management suite (SDM). This will include processes and associated timescales, works completed, customer feedback, cost and contractor information, together with copies of documentation/certification.

12.2 The housing management suit will accommodate reporting against the Scottish Social Housing Charter and key performance Indicators. It will also provide reports on contractor performance and business intelligence to assist strategic decision making. All data will be processed in accordance with the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

13. Tenants incentives

13.1 The Co-operative will provide tenant's incentives, where appropriate to assist the allocation of void properties. These may be made available, where a considerable amount of decoration is required and or a property has been refused on this basis. Incentives will be assessed on a case by case basis and may include:

- A decoration allowance, in accordance with the Repair and maintenance policy

Void management policy

- Provision of carpeting
- Provision of an initial rent-free period

13.2 The above list is not exclusive, and the Co-operative will continue to explore ways to enhance our service and ensure that properties are let timeously. Any new initiatives will be approved by the Management Board, prior to introduction.

14. Advertising voids

14.1 The Co-operative operates a choice-based allocations policy. This involves the Co-operative advertising its properties to applicants on its housing list. Properties are advertised on the Co-operatives web site and Facebook and hard copies are also issued to applicants on request, who do not have access to the internet.

15. GDPR Privacy Statement

15.1 The Co-operative will gather and use certain information about individuals in accordance with GDPR. Staff members have a responsibility to ensure compliance with the terms of the privacy policy and to collect, handle and store personal information in accordance with relevant legislation. The Fair Processing Notice (FPN) details how personal data is held and processed.
